Kennedy Square

The New Novel by

F. Hopkinson Smith

The tremendous success of "Kennedy Square" as a serial—just about to be completed in Scribner's Magazine—insures the tremendous demand for it as a book. It has the charm of "Peter," and the interest of "The Fortunes of Oliver Horn." Thousands have waited in eager impatience for each succeeding number.

This powerful Southern romance played out against the picturesque old square now famous through "The Fortunes of Oliver Horn," seems likely to outrank all the author's earlier books. It is admirably illustrated by A. I. Keller.

FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

IN THE NEW NOVEL, "THE PRODIGAL JUDGE," MR. KESTER has produced a book of which any American novelist might be proud. He has transcribed a period in a vivid fashion and we know of no book of its pretensions more essentially American or so full of the real flavor of our early evolving conditions.

Mr. Kester has touched high water mark in describing the broad places, the faintly scorched roads but lately pushed by pioneers over the hills, the winding rivers that flowed by the occasional settlements with their mushroom man-made resting places. The humor and pathos of the old prodigal's life give to the story a quality and tone of rare merit. What is most encouraging is that Mr. Kester has written a "best seller" which really deserves the wide success it will, without doubt, continue to have, and we should not be surprised if its dramatic possibilities were translated into play form.—The Bookman.

DIVORCE?—OR HELL?

REBELLION

A Novel by
JOSEPH MEDILL

handles without gloves the subject of Divorce. It is a big story of fine, honest purpose—a story with a punch! REBELLION is stronger and better than Mr. Patterson's "A Little Brother of the Rich," and like that great success is bound to be widely discussed and to excite much controversy.

The novel that is talked about is the one that sells. This is a year of big novels: among the big ones REBELLION will stand out because it will be talked about—discussed by the newspapers—probably condemned by some of the clergy (as was the play REBELLION when given a try-out in Kansas City by Miss Gertrude Elliott)—and because we shall back up the "natural publicity" by an advertising campaign in leading periodicals and newspapers with a total circulation of ten millions.

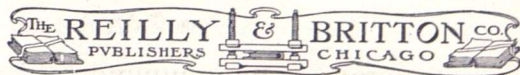

Then, too, Mr. Patterson's play of the same name will have its New York or Chicago production simultaneously with the publication of the book.

All this indicates that REBELLION will be one of the biggest sellers.

For REBELLION, Walter Dean Goldbeck has painted four fine pictures. The cover is most attractive and the startling jacket was planned to make REBELLION the "eye-catcher" in windows and stocks.

REBELLION: Standard 12mo size: illustrated: price $1.25 net. Publication day, October 2nd.

HERE IS ANOTHER BIG THING

¶ By special arrangement A. L. Burt Company, 52 Duane St., New York, will publish on September 15, Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand (250,000) copies of The Calling of Dan Matthews in a Popular Edition. This is the biggest deal ever "put over," of its kind. The Calling of Dan Matthews will be the big "popular" this fall, with The Shepherd of the Hills and That Printer of Udell's fighting for second place.

¶ Do you grasp the magnitude of the number sold of The Shepherd of the Hills? More than Thirty-Five Car Loads have been sold up to date. (Over 700,000 copies.) of "The Unknown Isle" should be delivered to the Trade by the time this issue of The Publishers' Weekly is mailed. In the future we hope to be prepared to fill all orders immediately on receipt.

The Unknown Isle

By PIERRE DE COULEVAIN

Author of "On the Branch"

A prominent bookseller said to us voluntarily the other day: "You have one of the big books of the year in 'The Unknown Isle.'" The sales in the six weeks since publication would seem to bear him out.

We believe that every bookseller will eventually stock "The Unknown Isle." Why not display and begin to sell this talked-about book NOW? One copy sold sells three.

Your order will be greatly appreciated. Net, $1.35.

The New York "Times" says:

"The immense popularity of the work of this woman who writes under a masculine pseudonym is one of the literary paradoxes of the age."

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE Putnams are about to publish a volume by Arthur Christopher Benson, entitled "Ruskin: a Study in Personality."

SAMPSON LOW, MARSTON & Co. will publish shortly a large and handsome volume on the "Coronation," by Cecil Gray.

"PANDORA'S BOX," a new novel by John A. Mitchell, author of "Amos Judd," "The Pines of Lory," etc., will be published in the early autumn by Frederick A. Stokes Company.

F. HOPKINSON SMITH's new novel, "Kennedy Square," now appearing serially in Scribner's Magazine, will be published in book form by Charles Scribner's Sons on August 26. The quaint old square pictured in "The Fortunes of Oliver Horn" is the background for this Southern romance, which has all the charm and interest of "Peter."

WILLIAM RICKEY & COMPANY announce for publication on August 26 "An American Suffragette," by Isaac N. Stevens, in which the author attempts to portray the meaning and effect on society of the suffrage revolution now sweeping over the Anglo-Saxon world. Primarily written to help the suffrage cause, the book is said to be at the same time a thrilling love and mystery story.

MISS MARY JOHNSTON's novel, "The Long Roll," is very generally reported as one of the best selling books throughout the country. The first edition of 60,000 copies was exhausted in just one month, and a second edition is now ready. The book has been called an epic of the Confederacy. The real hero is "The Gray Stonewall," General Jackson's army, and the real heroine, Virginia and the sister States of the South in their hard, war-ridden days.

By special arrangement with the Book Supply Company the A. L. Burt Company will publish September 15 a popular edition of "The Calling of Dan Matthews." This edition, it is said, will be one of 250,000 copies, and is believed to be a record one for a reprint of popular fiction. The attention of the trade is also called to Harold Bell Wright's new book, "The Winning of Barbara Worth," the first edition of which (175,000 copies) will be published by the Book Supply Company August 18.

CONTEMPORANEOUSLY with Dodd, Mead & Company's "Autobiography of Richard Wagner" comes a publication from John Lane Company, entitled "Wagner at Home" by Judith Gautier, daughter of Theophile Gautier, and wife of Catulle Mandes, who were among the first Parisians to understand Wagner's music, and who worked earnestly to make the French public appreciate this new art. The author's visit to the eminent composer at his home on Lake Lucerne is interestingly described. Proceeding to Munich, Mme. Gautier, at the request of Wagner, was entertained by his friend Hans Richter, and a special performance of "Rheingold," by the order of the King, took place for her entertainment. The first chapter of the volume contains a long letter from Wagner to Mme. Gautier, showing how deeply he appreciated her articles written in his defense. To a true lover of Wagner the book will be invaluable. Another of John Lane Company's newest publications is a book by Arthur Harvey, "Franz Liszt and His Music." From childhood acclaimed as the greatest pianist of the age, Liszt's genius as a composer is even now strangely underestimated. This volume is intended by the author to serve as an introduction to the study of his works.

Weekly Record of New Publications

The Daring twins; a story for young folk; il. by Pauline M. Batchelder. Chic., Reilly & B., ['11.] (Jl15) c. 317 p. D. $1 n.

The five little Darings had been left all alone to cope with the trying situation of earning a livelihood, and for a time the twins, being the oldest of the family and upon whose shoulders these sore perplexities had fallen, stood in dumb amazement gazing out into what seemed to these young folk a vast expanse. It was just at this time that the author found them, realized upon short notice that the Darings were not "daring" in name only, took up the thread of their lives and wove it into the most charming story imaginable. The story is no fairy tale, but the real life of boys and girls. They all have a host of fun intermingled with the trials, which are made insignificant by their perpetual cheerfulness, and it contains many thrilling adventures.

This is especially adaptable to a school edition on account of its delightfully simple and genuine German style. Through the felicitous plan of the author to clothe a highly interesting and important modern problem with a thoroughly German romantic garb, the play has marked a revival of romanticism within the most modern drama. The problem, a satire on Divine Right, is most interesting. It has direct bearing on the conflict in Germany between Bismarck and the present emperor. Editor is associate professor of German in Amherst College.

What happened at Olenberg; il. by Emile A. Nelson. Chic., Reilly & B., ['11.] (Jl15) c. 204 p. D. $1 n.

A grand prince comes out of the forest and claims for his bride a certain maiden of the village. In the town of Olenberg news such as this must only be told at a great mass meeting, and then only by the burgomaster himself. The date for the meeting is set and the utmost secrecy supposed to be maintained; but each one, even the burgomaster, has a special friend from whom he or she, as the case may be, can have no secrets and each in turn makes just one exception. Of course everybody in the village knows the wonderful secret before the day set for the telling; yet what did happen at Olenberg is not disclosed until near the end of the book. By the author of a "Story of a young man."

Hugo, Victor.

The poetry of Victor Hugo; by Pelham Edgar and J: Squair, for the use of schools and colleges. N. Y., Ginn, ['11.] (Jl15) c. 17+330 p. S. (International modern language ser.) 90 c.

The purpose of this edition of Hugo is to provide a survey of his work which shall reveal the evolution of the poet's talents from youth to old age. The poems are arranged in groups under topics, and, to facilitate the study of Hugo's development, are as nearly as possible in chronological order. As there is always a danger of contracting false views from truncated specimens, they are, with one or two exceptions, presented in their complete form. The editors have preserved a discreet attitude—offering nothing in the way of criticism or annotation which shall interfere in any way with the full freedom of the instructor in handling any grade of students. Editor is of the University of Toronto. Glossary.

The Publishers' Weekly

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT

July 15, 1911

The editor is not responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

Publishers should send books promptly for weekly record and descriptive annotation, if possible in advance of publication. The Record of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE "LOAN SHARK" PROBLEM.

THE salary loan problem is not one of the booktrade alone; it has sooner or later to be faced by every large employer of labor. Yet the public spirit of the booktrade has always been so marked; publishers have, of all large employers of labor, so often been in the forefront of movements for social and economic reform that the "loan shark" evil, so-called, may well be called especially to its attention.

The need that salaried employees occasionally have of temporary loans cannot be denied. Sickness and accident, to say the least, personal financial embarrassments, cumulative payments on house or investment coming due, a sudden call for a loan to a deserving dependent friend or relative—any one of these things may some time cause the most thrifty and careful employee to be in temporary need of financial assistance. And the more a man dislikes the thought of borrowing, the more proud he is of his financial independence, the more likely the "loan shark" is of finding him a lucrative victim.

The "loan shark" evil is one of long standing, an "interest" so firmly entrenched behind law as well as precedent that attempt to reform conditions, even in a single State, was, for a while, uphill work. The recent conference on the subject, however, held under the joint auspices of the Russell Sage Foundation and The Merchants' Association of New York showed that marked progress toward a solution is being made. Resolutions embodying the following recommendations were unanimously adopted by the conference. They sum up the present attitude of the most broad-minded employers of labor.

1st: That employers rescind rules of discharge, in order to assist employees in resisting unreasonable interest charges and deprive money-lenders of the power of extortion.

2d: That all employers disregard claims filed by money-lenders against the wages of employees, not in direct compliance with law, the employers to interest themselves in assisting employees involved with loan sharks.

3d: That, in self-interest as well as for the benefit of their employees, all large employers of labor encourage and assist in the creation of co-operative savings and loan associations in their respective establishments.

4th: That laws be enacted which will allow a reasonable rate of interest on all small loans and provide for the licensing of money-lenders and the efficient supervision and control of such licensees, preferably under the supervision of the State Banking Department.

A. H. Ham, who, as agent of the Russell Sage Foundation, has been engaged during the past three years in investigating the conditions, spoke of the amazing extent to which the salary loan business has grown in a comparatively few years. It amounts in New York City alone to $20,000,000 annually, the net profit of the money-lenders exceeding 100 per cent. a year on the capital invested. The fear of discharge, due to the attitude of many employers toward men who assign their wages for loans, serves the loan shark as the most efficient collection agency which could be devised. The losses in the salary loan business, therefore, are nowhere near so large as the loan sharks claim. Evidence that the borrower's fear of discharge gives the lender the potential means of extorting high rates is found in the fact that salary loan sharks will not, as a rule, lend to those employed by concerns where the rule of discharge does not exist. The salary loan business is an influence tending to decrease the efficiency of employees to an alarming extent, as it offers many temptations to embezzlement and forgery.

It should be noted, however, that in New York State at least the loan agent has now to face a legal curb of no mean importance. In the recent case of Thompson vs. Gimbel Bros., the New York State Supreme Court decided that Section 42 of the Personal Property Law requires the loan company to file on a salary loan within three days after the actual making of the loan. The decision is all important as a weapon against the loan shark, in that it removes secrecy from the salary loan transaction. The employee is not likely to make the loan if the employer is to become aware of it within three days after the transaction, and an employer may safely disregard a notice of assignment of wages if not thus notified.

The speakers at the conference included some of the largest employers in New York City. The Hon. Isidor Straus, of R. H. Macy & Company, stated emphatically that his company had always refused to honor assignments filed against the wages of its employees, and had made it its policy to help any employee involved with loan sharks; and representatives of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company and Gimbel Bros., among others, spoke in similar terms.

There is undoubtedly need of a general law, however, dealing with small loans. There are at present laws regulating pawnbrokers, and chattel mortgage loan laws under which personal loan associations may charge a reasonable rate of interest under proper supervision, but some similar law is needed in respect to salary loans. With the present legally provided interest rate of 6 per cent. per annum it is impossible to do such business honestly. As there is a genuine economic need for salary loans among certain classes of people who are not able to obtain loans from the present remedial agencies in the field, such as the co-operative loan associations, the necessity is urgent for the passage of new legislation which will permit salary loan companies to operate on a reasonable basis under proper supervision.

Concluding the conference, E. E. Pratt, of the New York School of Philanthropy, discussed the various methods adopted by employers to counteract the salary loan evil, and outlined the employees' or co-operative savings and loan associations which are in operation in many industrial establishments. These associations, in order to be most successful, must be under the control and administration of the employees themselves. They are based on the following practical principles. One: Facilities for saving are placed at the command of the workingmen, who, after starting to save, are almost compelled to continue. Two: Security for loans is the borrower's reputation for reliability, based on the shrewd judgment of his fellow-employees. Three: Interest on loans made to borrowers pays a considerable profit on savings in comparison with the market interest. As an encouragement to thrift, saving is encouraged by the large rates of interest made possible by the loan business conducted by the association. The usual charge to borrowers is about 1 per cent. a month. The machinery for carrying on such an association is simple. An organization is effected with the usual officers and board of directors made up of employees from different departments in order that their acquaintance may be a wide one. This board of directors passes on loans, although this function may be delegated to a finance committee. Loans are made without security, except above certain amounts, when the notes must be endorsed by one or more fellow-employees.

Speaking along the same line, P. E. Ward, of the Myrick Credit Union, Springfield, Mass., and the only publisher represented at the conference, described the credit union system operating in some cities in Massachusetts. Mr. Ward, who, because of his association with the Orange Judd Publishing Company has knowledge of the evils of the salary loan business, believes that "every manufacturing plant can and should encourage, sustain and operate through its employees a loan organization of some kind. It will keep employees out of the hands of the loan sharks, pawnbrokers, credit clothiers and others who prey upon the needy; it will aid in maintaining better and more agreeable relations between the employer and the employee, relieving the employer of much embarrassment and possible expense from litigation. Even where the employer takes a kindly interest in assisting needy employees, there are elements of paternalism which is not helpful. The properly conducted savings and loan association removes the necessity of this. Coupled with the large number of offices, committees and boards necessary for the proper conduct of a co-operative savings and loan association and the wide distribution of these offices among the membership, the employee develops self-reliance, caution and good business sense, all of which represents increased efficiency and an asset to the employer."

For the benefit of the rest of the trade THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY will be glad to learn of any such co-operative loan associations in the trade, and to give further publicity to the details of their management.

A BOOK salesman who doesn't read THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY will never make good. It is as necessary as hammer and nails in the construction of a building.—From the Vir Publishing Company's Successful Selling.

CHICAGO BOOK FAIR FIELD DAY.

As Reported by The Publishers' Weekly's Special Correspondent.

THE fourth annual field day of the Chicago Book Fair was held on Tuesday, July 11, at the Hinsdale Golf Club and as usual was a big success. About 125 men attended and forgot business and their age for one day and acted like schoolboys. A great many events formed the programme, and there were ten prizes of silver cups presented to the winners. The entries in each of the events were far greater than ever before. A special train had been chartered which left the city at 8.40 and carried a happy lot of book men.

THE BASE BALL GAME.

The first event was the ball game between the East and the West, and was very hotly contested. The championship which was held by the Eastern team was wrested from them and the Western team are now the champions. The followers of the Eastern team, however, claim that several of the Western players were not genuine book men and that their faces looked very familiar to visitors of the American League ball park in Chicago. In fact they claim they had secured five or six of the White Sox players and were playing them under assumed names. At any rate they beat the East and were very happy, and a considerable number of coupons changed hands on the event. The score was as follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	R.	H.	E.
The West	3	6	0	0	0	4	—13	17	3
The East	3	0	1	1	3	1	—9	12	5

Two-base hits, Stewart (2), Westbrook (2). Three-base hits, Stewart, Springer. Bases on balls, by Noble 3, by Reynolds 3, by Hill 1, by Westbrook 2. Struck out, by Noble 5, by Reynolds 1, by Hill 4, by Westbrook 1. Time of game, 2 hours and 10 minutes. Umpire, F. L. Hardcastle.

THE LUNCHEON.

After the ball game came the great luncheon event, won as usual by the East, under the able leadership of Jack Hopkins. Herbert Gould, of the West, tried his best, but stood no real show even though it was a handicap affair. After he was defeated Herbert Gould claimed that during the ball game Jack Hopkins had been seen going to the Club House and practicing eating fried chicken, which gave him an advantage when the real event took place.

THE FIELD EVENTS.

The afternoon was a busy one. At 2 o'clock the Blind Bogey Handicap was started and there were 26 entries. The West are very proud of the fact that the first prize, a magnificent silver cup, was captured by Herbert Gould, of A. C. McClurg & Co. The East had to be content with the second prize in this event, another beautiful silver cup, which was won by Bert Lewis, of the Mutual Book Company, of Boston.

At the same hour the Pinochle contest took place, Eugene Sommer and Dave McKay being the committee in charge of same. The reason for their appointment to this high position was the fact that they considered themselves the best pinochle players in the book business. They entered in the contest along with eighteen other friends, but were forced to accept defeat, and the contest narrowed down in the final match to Joseph F. Greene, of the A. L. Burt Co., and F. K. Reilly, of Reilly & Britton. They were very evenly matched and it was a close game, but Joe Greene managed to win by a narrow margin and received a large gold and silver cup, and was conceded to be the best pinochle player in the book business by all present except George Sully, Eugene Sommer, Dave McKay, Alex McKay (Dave's boy) and Fred Nunan, who claimed that the cards were against them and if given another chance each one was sure that he could win the prize.

At 5 p.m. the fat man's race took place and there were over twenty entries, each one of which, however, claimed that he was not eligible for the race on account of not being a fat man. It was run in very fast time and was won by A. E. Feltzkog, of Reilly & Britton, who claimed he covered the 100 yards in less than ten seconds.

The 50-yard dash was the next event, and the entries were, of course, confined to the younger men. August Gehrs was the favorite in the betting, as he was the winner of last year's event; but in this case the favorite lost, and F. H. Revell, Jr., proved to be the dark horse and was rewarded with a large silver cup for being so fleet of foot.

The next event was the three-legged race, and created more fun than the fat man's race, as about half of the contestants fell down. Old age had to bow to youth, as the winners were of the younger generation, G. M. Morris, son of Frank Morris, Chicago, and A. E. Raettig, of F. H. Revell Co. They both received a silver cup for a prize.

The spoon and egg race was another laughable affair, and it was very gratifying to see about forty men of all ages anxious and willing to participate in this exhilarating game. W. J. Sanford, of the W. A. Wilde Co., was the winner and received a silver cup.

The approaching and putting contest brought out nearly fifty entries and was very hotly contested, as five men were tied for first place. In the play-off J. H. Springer, of the Presbyterian Board, proved the best player and won the prize of a large silver cup.

The putting contest also brought out a large entry list, and three players, Alex Grosset (of Grosset & Dunlap), W. J. Blessing (of the Presbyterian Board), and C. A. Canner (of John Lane), were tied for first place, but in the play-off Alex Grosset won hands down and received a large silver cup.

THE DINNER.

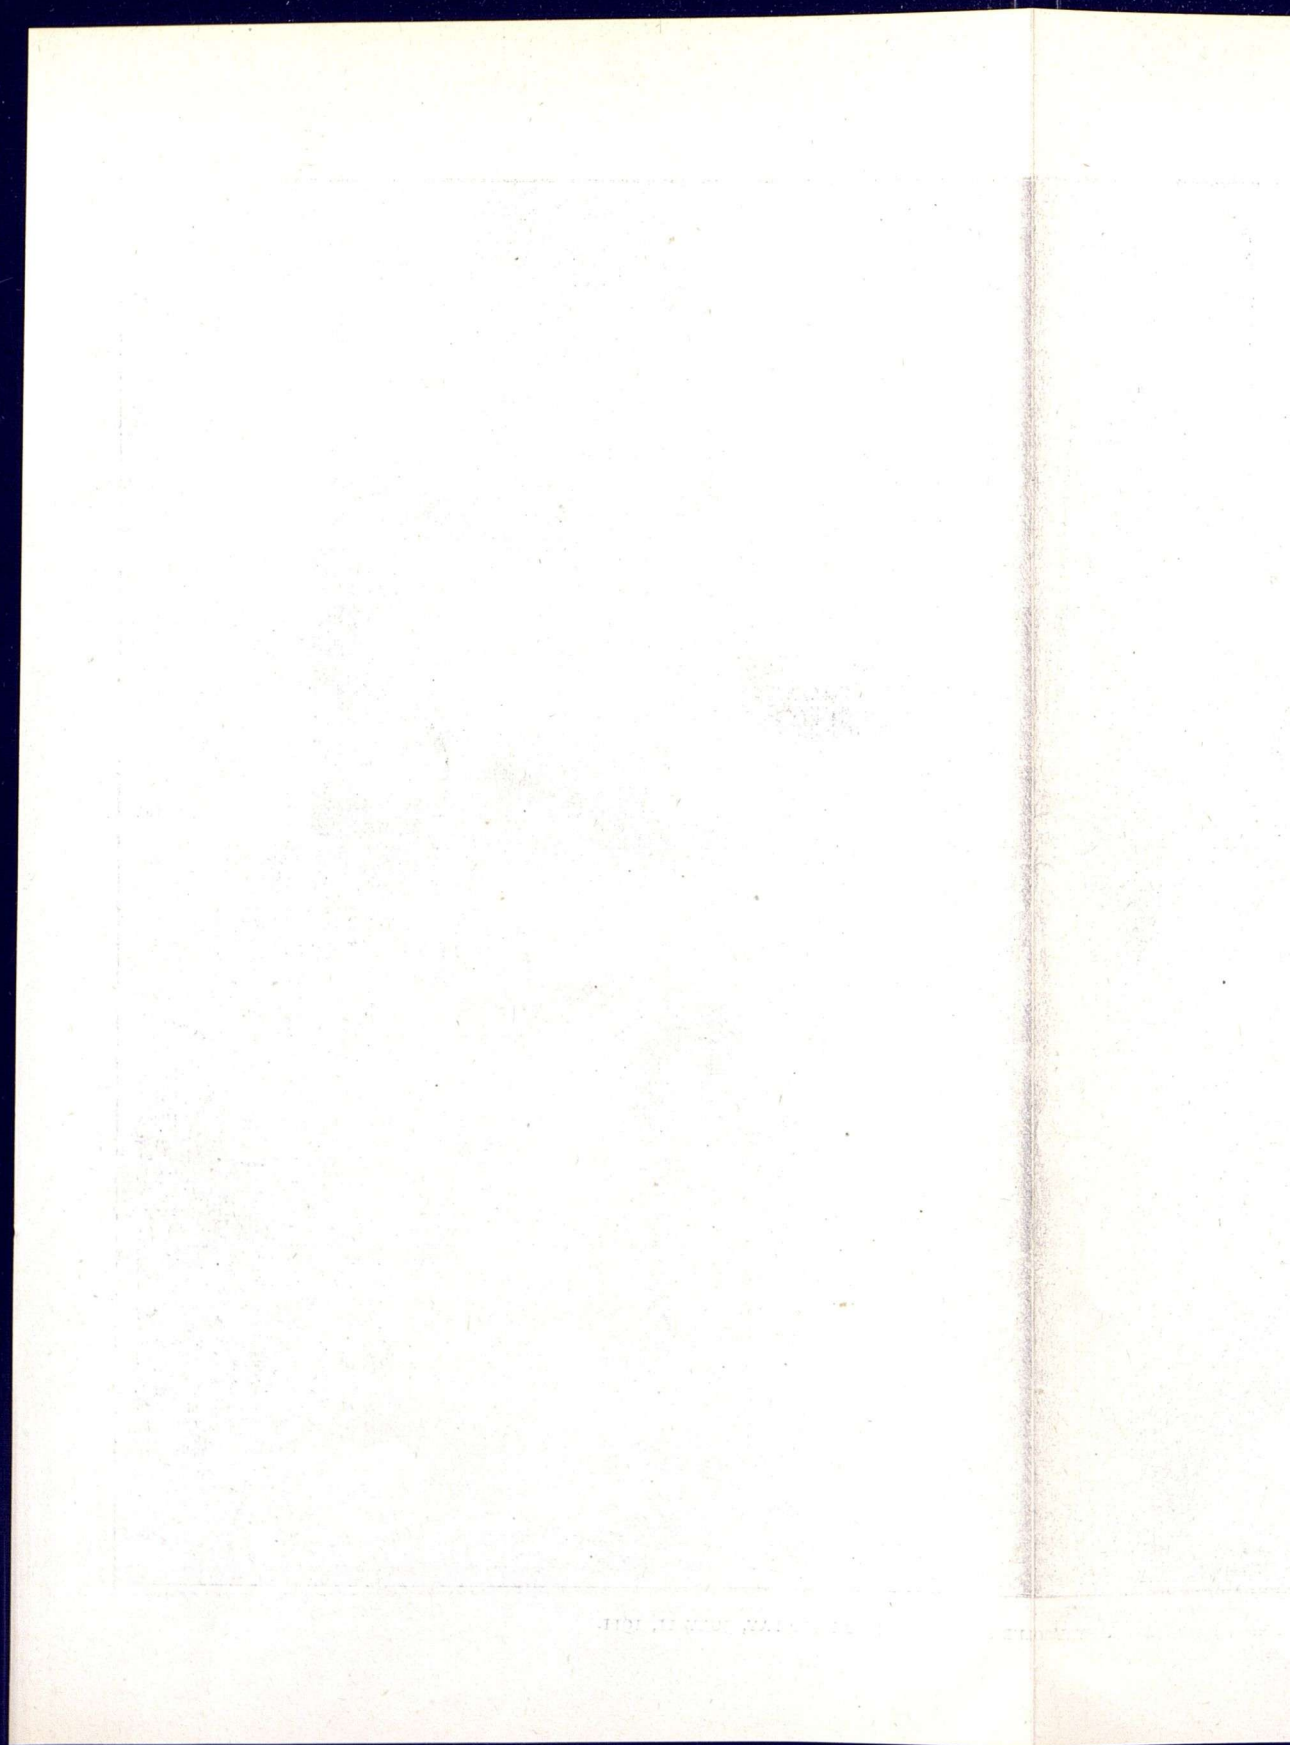

At 6.30 a very hungry crowd of 125 men sat down to a chicken dinner. The steward of the Hinsdale Golf Club having had experience before with book men, prepared enough for 250 men, and at that some of the men were complaining they had not had enough to eat.

THE EVENING.

After dinner the crowd amused themselves in various ways. The Annex Quartette favored with songs, assisted at the piano by Arthur Caldwell. Floyd Nourse, of the Emporium, San Francisco, and Joe Greene, entertained the crowd with the Grizzly Bear dance, and believe me they are some dancers. The usual amount of card games took place, and some of the older men enjoyed their cigars and the fine air of Hinsdale sitting on the porch and telling wonderful tales of what a tremendous business they were doing at the Book Fair. They were all telling the truth, for no book salesman ever was known to magnify his sales, or to say anything in favor of his own goods that was not exactly right.

At 11 o'clock the special train started for Chicago, carrying a very tired but happy crowd, who voted that 1911's was the greatest of any of the Field Days.

FIELD DAY NOTES.

Oh! you, Alex Grosset, did you get that pie?

Arthur Mathis, of Smith & Lamar, Dallas, Texas, was present and thoroughly enjoyed the defeat of the Eastern ball team.

J. W. McCormick, of the Western News Co., made an average of 100 per cent. on the day by not winning any event which he entered.

Alex. Grosset, of Grosset & Dunlap, had never attended Field Day, but announces that he does not intend to miss another one. It is queer how the winning of a prize will swell a man up.

Burt Lewis was so surprised at winning the second prize in the Blind Bogey Handicap that when asked to step forward to receive same he said, "Quit yer kiddin'," and had to be escorted to the platform by force.

Burt Caldwell and Frank Morris spent most of the afternoon in the shower baths arguing over the merits and ability of their sons. The argument ended in a tie. We can't blame them, as they both have sons to be proud of.

C. Allen Pitman, of the Jordan Marsh Co., Boston, attended the Book Fair last week, but was forced to leave for home before Field Day. His departure was regretted by all the boys, as it was his first visit to Chicago and he had never attended Field Day.

Some mean followers of the Eastern ball team hired some small boys from the village of Hinsdale to steal some of the fireworks and cow bells from Duke Hill, R. R. Reilly and Charles Mamberger, who had them there for the purpose of making enough noise to disconcert the Eastern team.

Frank Collins, of Raphael Tuck & Sons, who entered in the Egg and Spoon contest, cheated. He procured a piece of chewing gum which he stuck in the bottom of the spoon, and to which the egg stuck like glue. He would have won the race in a walk had he not turned two or three somersaults.

A wrestling match was proposed, the contestants to be E. H. Lapham, of A. C. McClurg & Co., and J. H. Hopkins, of Barse & Hopkins. At the last moment Hopkins refused. He didn't want to be defeated, and yet could not afford to win and jeopardize his chance of getting his McClurg order.

F. H. Nourse, of the Emporium, San Francisco, in which place the Grizzly Bear dance originated, showed his ability in that line by giving an exhibition of the famous dance with Joe Greene as a partner. We can understand why Floyd is so well versed in this art, but how did Joe Greene get next?

Joseph F. Greene, of the A. L. Burt Co., was the surprise of the day. He entered in every event of which he was eligible and gave a very good account of himself, and his boss, Harry Burt, was so pleased when Joe won the pinochle contest that he announced publicly that Joe's salary would be raised.

Duke Hill, of Montgomery Ward & Co., was the leader of the crowd of Indians who, during the ball game, rang cow bells and exploded fireworks whenever the Western team made a good play. The Eastern players were of such a retiring disposition that the noise disconcerted them and was probably the cause of their defeat.

W. S. Lewis, of Strawbridge & Clothier, was present as usual and he, with L. R. Matlack and R. R. Reilly, were judges in some of the racing events, and proved themselves very capable. The judges in the other races were Herman Kleinteich, S. C. Britton and Victor W. Cupples, who were also equal to the emergency.

Tom Claggett, of the J. B. Lippincott Co., jumped into Chicago from some point in Tennessee to represent Horace Ridings at the Field Day exercises. However, Horace knew nothing about it, and we hope no one will be unkind enough to squeal on Tom. Tom is some golf player. He drove a ball 100 yards, hit a tree and the ball bounced back 150 yards.

During the dinner three cheers were given for L. B. Vaughan, the vice-president of the Hinsdale Golf Club, who had extended the use of the club to the bookmen for the day. Mr. Vaughan responded, and among other things said that the officers of the Hinsdale Golf Club were very proud to have the honor of having the bookmen make their club headquarters for Field Day.

L. H. Wells, of the Powers Mercantile Co., Minneapolis, sent a message that it was impossible for him to attend and wished the boys a pleasant day. Some people were mean enough to say that Doc was afraid to come and enter in the fat man's race, as he did not want to lose his reputation for being a fast runner, and that his winning of last year's cup was a mere accident.

W. F. Lee and Manager S. H. Darst, of the Reilly & Britton Co., almost came to blows arguing about the merits of the two ball teams, for, although employed by a western house, Billy is a thorough easterner, and accused Sam of putting in "ringers." S. C. Britton, one of their bosses, who is a very severe boss and of whom the boys are all afraid, ordered them to desist.

E. H. Lapham, of A. C. McClurg & Co., and E. W. Reynolds, of the Book Supply Co., made the trip to Hinsdale in a machine. They did not arrive until the ball game was about half over, and their excuse was that they had lost their way and driven about twenty-five miles farther than necessary. It is said that Reynolds lost his way on purpose, so as to give him time to explain the merits of his new Harold Bell Wright Book to Eddie.

Herman Kleinteich, who was present at last year's Field Day for the first time, had such an enjoyable time that he came one thousand miles to be present this year. He was very much disappointed over the defeat of the Eastern baseball team, and after the game advised Manager L. R. Matlack that he would bring several of the Brooklyn National League players next year to put in as "ringers," but as the Brooklyn Club is in seventh place—next to the bottom (which latter place is always held by Louis Page's Boston team)—Manager Matlack declined his kind offer, saying that he thought more of his own talent.

In the Blind Bogey Handicap it was necessary to have a net score between 80 and 90. At the end of the 17th hole Herbert Gould discovered he had been playing far better than he knew how; and that in order to get in the money it would be necessary for him to take fifteen strokes on the last hole, which ordinarily should be made in five. He reached the green in four and puttied from one side of the green to the other until he had used the required number. It shows that Herb uses his head in any sport the same as he does when being told of the wonderful sale which a novel is going to have when being shown to him by a salesman.

The great pinochle match between Eugene Sommer and Arthur Leon, which has been scheduled as one of the special events each year, and which heretofore had never been played on account of the absence of one or the other (and some people claim it was a case of one was afraid and the other dastent), finally took place. It was to consist of the best six out of eleven games. Leon won the first five games, Sommers the sixth, and Leon the seventh and final game, which proved to every one's satisfaction (except Gene Sommers) that Arthur was the better player, and that the Pacific Coast was strong on climate, but weak on pinochle. Leon is about the happiest man on earth, and feels prouder over his winning than if he had fallen heir to a million dollars. Mr. Leon is so modest and retiring that he requested that no publicity be given to this affair, not wishing to hurt the feelings of Gene Sommers, who is very downcast over his defeat. The latter is such a good loser, however, that he demanded that notice be sent to THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY telling of Mr. Leon's prowess.

NEW YORK'S SUMMER READING.

BOOKSELLERS will tell you, says the Sun, interestingly with an occasional dose of exaggeration, that the individual expenditures by many New Yorkers for summer literature are far in excess of the sums certain of the earlier noted writers, Charles Dickens for example, spent in a year for the family living expenses. In the aggregate the amount of money spent for summer reading is enormous. Booksellers hint that but for this a good many novels which give large rewards to their authors might never be published at all. In the summer season about 90 per cent. of the purchasers at some stores ask for fiction, and the lighter the quality the better it is apt to sell.

"Palmleaf fans and mint juleps seem to go better with light reading," said one bookseller, an opinion which tallied with that of a saleswoman in the book section of a department store, who declared that titles and the author's name counted for less at this season than the fact that a romantic love story was told between covers. It may be that her judgment was biased from having just completed a sale of nineteen love stories to a woman long past her salad days and of not romantic appearance who ordered the books sent to a suburb. The novels were all selected from the marked down tables; none was a late publication, but each was a thriller in its line.

"Nineteen is not a large order," the saleswoman said. "We often sell as many as fifty books to one person, who will distribute half of them, maybe, among friends who are sailing or going to the country."

A portly, prosperous looking man apparently in a hurry brushed past and made straight for the new books tables. He stayed about ten minutes and went out faster than he came in, leaving the store better off by the price of twenty-four books.

"It is the unexpected that is likely to happen here at this time of year," said the manager, looking after him. "Take it all in all women are our best customers. Every once in a while, though, a man who has had a good day in Wall Street or looks as if he had, breezes in here on his way home, selects thirty dollars' worth or so of new books, bundles them into his car or taxi and is off."

"No, I can't think of any who has a list with him or who seemed to be shopping for any one. These men just take the notion to buy some new books and leave the selection to us. Occasionally they include a volume of essays or of biography, but mostly it is fiction that is wanted."

"It is a common experience here to sell $100 worth of summer reading matter to one customer. Why, if we didn't take two or three orders like that a day we wouldn't think we were doing any business. In some cases we don't know who will get most of these books, in other cases we have the distributing of them in parcels of from six to ten to persons leaving New York. In every case only the very latest works of fiction are chosen."

"The other day I went to see a relative off for Europe and met on the steamer a young woman I knew who had about half a trunk full of books sent to her by friends who know that she is an omnivorous reader while at sea. This fashion of speeding departing friends with books helps the New York booksellers in summer. Few of the books sent on such occasions are ever taken from the steamer. Deckhands and other employees will get most of them: one or two may get into the ship's library."

"An old New Yorker who dropped in to see me the other day was inclined to grieve over the wasteful extravagance, as he thought, of this generation in spending lavishly for fiction what no one wants to save in his library.

"My granddaughter," he complained, "buys pretty nearly every new novel on this side of the water before she sails and about every new novel she can find on the other side after she lands, and never keeps one of them."

"I consoled him and surprised him a little too by pointing out that relatively the increase in the expenditure for fiction is not so great as he imagined, that in many cases his generation was as extravagant as his granddaughter's generation.

"Fiction, I pointed out, cost a lot more forty years ago than it does now, and the reason more novels were not seen in some old time households was that the output of works of fiction was comparatively small then. Readers were not tempted as they are now. I didn't have to go back more than a dozen years to prove this. I handed the old gentleman these figures:

"In 1900 there were 7000 new books put on this market, in 1909 the number had jumped to 10,000, and in 1910 to 14,000. Needless to say a large percentage of these was fiction.

"The June sales are usually far ahead of the May sales. July is pretty nearly equal to June, and August drops a good deal where distinctively summer literature is concerned. Of late I have noticed that it is the younger women who are the more discriminating buyers of books, girls just graduated from schools and colleges. The mothers buy and read and send to friends a certain book because some one told them it was a good story. The daughters have opinions of their own and are usually far more critical as to quality.

"At one time very little business was done in children's books in summer, but of late there has been a change in this respect. Amusing stories for children are asked for every day all summer long. It is not grown folks alone who have the fiction habit. I account for this increased demand by the increasing numbers of New Yorkers who have a country home not far off and who send to the city for reading matter for the children; not nature books or anything like that, but fiction."

In a certain bookstore an illustration was afforded of the extent to which customers rely on the judgment of salespeople. Except in the New Thought section, customers came and went briskly. In some cases they might have been asking for and getting a time table for all the care they bestowed on the transaction.

Around the New Thought books bound in pocket editions with cheerfully decorated covers a few women lingered thoughtfully, putting down, taking up, turning a leaf here and there before buying a copy or two. The salesman stood at attention, but his opinion was not asked as to the relative interest of the books. In the fiction section, which at this time of year occupies the banner position and overflows into spaces where serious book-lovers feel that it has no business to be, it was quite different. There the salesmen were exercising their best vocabulary for the benefit of customers.

"Yes, madam," one assured a matronly looking woman with a lorgnon, as he spread his hands over the top of a tall pile of novels of his own selecting, "these are among the very latest and they are all interesting. Shall I send them?"

The lady, who had done no more than glance at the title as each book was laid before her, had her car outside and would take the books along, she said, at which a small messenger appeared, shouldered the pile and marched ahead to the sidewalk.

"Half a dozen novels with plenty of adventure in them" was the demand of a middle-aged man, who consulted his watch as he spoke.

Immediately half a dozen and more were spread out before him.

"I guess that's all right so long as you know what I want," he said. "Come to think of it, put in two volumes of travel—nothing dull, mind you—and send them up by four this afternoon."

"Some folks believe that men in general don't care for novels," a book expert connected with the store commented, "whereas three-fourths of those I meet are as fond of novels as women are, only they like a different sort. Women dote on the society novel as a rule, men prefer novels including plenty of action and adventure.

"Strange to say it is oftener young than middle-aged men who call for books of travel, and I have several in mind who read little else but books of travel in summer.

"Both men and women buy more summer reading now than formerly. To say that several hundred new books are sent to one and another customer in a summer is simply to state a fact. It is an up-to-date manifestation of the book business contingent largely on the multiplication of country houses, house parties and European trips.

"Personally I can say we owe a large percentage of our summer sales to the vogue of house parties. In many cases we have a standing order to send to the country house once a week three, four or six new books, fiction of course. The books must be absolutely new, that is, put on the market since the week before. If we have none such we don't send at all. But with 200 new books appearing in one month, as happens frequently, we are not often at a loss.

"These books are intended for the guest rooms. For a guest to arrive and find a book she had read at the last place visited on the table in her room is what the fashionable hostess of to-day tries to guard against. The selections are left entirely to us, the only stipulation being that the books are just off the press.

"Similarly when we are ordered, as happens several times a month perhaps by these customers, to make up a bon voyage box of books, four, six or eight, to send to a steamer or to a private yacht, the choice of the books is left with us. They must be new. That is all the orders we get. And so careful must we be in most cases on this score that if we have the required number of books two days old we would not call week old books new.

"If, as occasionally happens, a customer designates what books are to go in the bon voyage parcel we are careful to substitute another book for one named if we happen to know that the person to whom they are going has a duplicate of it or is likely to have one.

"No, the newest book may not be the most interesting, but that is not the point. We stick to orders.

"Fifty books is an ordinary number to send to any country house during the summer. A dozen wouldn't go anywhere in a case of house parties."

RAILROAD MUST PAY FOR LOST BAGGAGE.

TRAVELLERS and the general public will be greatly interested in a decision just handed down by the Court of Appeals, holding the New York Central Railroad liable for the loss of personal property sustained by Mrs. Julia M. Hasbrouck, a prominent resident of Kingston, N. Y., while a passenger on the Boston & Albany Railroad, one of the subsidiary lines of the company.

Mrs. Hasbrouck sued to recover $1500, the value of four rings and a sum of money, which she asserts disappeared from her suit case while she was on her way to Natick, Mass. The lower court awarded her a verdict for the full amount, the Appellate Division affirmed the judgment, and now the highest court in the State has decided in her favor.

The railroad company contended that in the event of a recovery of damages Mrs. Hasbrouck should be limited to $100, as provided in the ticket purchased by her, but the court held that part of the contract between passenger and company applies to baggage that has been regularly checked and not to hand baggage retained in the possession of the passenger. While the question was not raised during the trial, it was suggested that Mrs. Hasbrouck was guilty of contributory negligence, in that her suit case was not locked at the time she delivered it to one of the company's agents. This contention was not upheld, the court holding that Mrs. Hasbrouck had proved delivery to the company and failure on its part to redeliver on her demand.

POSTAL-EXPRESS MATTERS.

COUPONS NOW ALLOWED.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL FRANK H. HITCHCOCK has issued an order amending Section 462 of the Postal Regulations, so as to allow coupons, order forms, and other matter intended for detachment to be included in permanently attached advertisements, or elsewhere in newspapers and periodicals. The order specifies that advertisement coupons must only be an incidental feature of such publications. They must not be such as to destroy the "statutory characteristics of second-class publications," or of such characters as to bring them within the prohibition of the statute denying the second-class rate of postage to publications designed primarily for advertising purposes.

NO PARCEL EXPRESS RATES ON BULK SHIPMENTS.

DENYING the right of the Wells-Fargo Express Company to charge parcel rates on bulk packages, the Interstate Commerce Commission has reaffirmed a principle previously laid down and ordered that after September 1 carriers shall not make the ownership of property offered for transportation a condition of the application of particular rates. The decision affects every express company in the United States.

The complainant was the California Commercial Association, which charged that the express company, in accepting boxes for transportation, asserted the right to charge parcel rates if the contents were destined for different persons, although the delivery was to be made in bulk.

R. F. D. SALARIES RAISED.

By an order this week of Postmaster-General Hitchcock 40,000 odd rural free delivery carriers will receive salary increases. The order will provide for the disbursement during the current fiscal year of $4,000,000, which will mean an increase of $100 over the present salary of $900 for all carriers on standard routes, with proportionate increases on the shorter routes.

Congress provided last session for the expenditure of this extra $4,000,000, but left it to the discretion of the Postmaster-General as to how much of it should be expended.

In authorizing the full increase Mr. Hitchcock said: "Now that the men are to receive such generous increases in pay, I feel that Congress should lose no time in authorizing the carrying of parcels on rural routes. A parcels post system on rural routes can be conducted without any extra expense to the government other than the $4,000,000 salary increase, which, in my judgment, would be more than offset by the parcels post revenue."

During the current year the rural service will cost the government about $40,000,000, the estimated loss being about $25,000,000.

The rural delivery system was started fifteen years ago with eighty-three carriers, who were paid only $200 a year. This pay was gradually increased, $100 a year, until on July 1 there were 41,562 carriers, their aggregate salaries being $35,793,000.

COMMUNICATIONS.

RUNNING HEADS IN THE TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

NEW YORK, July 11, 1911.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

NO DOUBT the new Trade List Annual will have the usual number of catalogues of fool publishers who have not sufficient business sense to put their names in a running line at top of pages. I wonder if they realize the disgust and rage that flood a busy dealer whenever he has to hunt for one of their catalogues in the Annual? And do they not realize that by pursuing this asinine course they most distinctly handicap themselves; that dealers will not "push" their publications as they will those of other publishers?

A NEW YORK BOOKSELLER.

[He's absolutely right. We've been drumming away on this same point for the last twenty-five years.—Ed. P. W.]

ANOTHER VETERAN FIRM.

NEW YORK, July 10, 1911.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: I see in your issue for July 8 an article headed "Sixty Years in Business," which states that the New York Times is circulating a tentative list of firms that have been in business in New York "at least sixty years." I am rather surprised to note that the firm of William Wood & Co. is not included in the list of publishers and booksellers, which you reprint from the circular.

Inasmuch as the Times wrote, under date of June 30, soliciting an advertisement from my firm, as one which was in the "sixty-year" class, it would seem as though the omission of the firm from any list purporting to contain all the names of concerns at least sixty years old must have been an oversight. The firm of William Wood & Co. was founded in 1804, and is, after the Methodist Book Concern, the oldest book house in New York. The fact is, perhaps, not without historical interest. Respectfully. Wm. C. Wood.

[The omission of William Wood & Co. was a typographical error.—Ed. P. W.]

OBITUARY NOTE

JAMES RODGERS, for over thirty-six years connected with Harper Brothers, and one of the best known men in the advertising field, died last week of brain fever at his home in Short Hills, N. J. Mr. Rodgers spent his entire business life with the Harper firm, having entered the office as a boy and risen through various departments, until some fifteen years ago he became the advertising manager of the Harper magazines. He was born August 16, 1859, in New York, and educated in local schools and at Trinity College. He entered the advertising department when it was in charge of Captain Drisler. A man of nervous temperament and very active mind, Mr. Rodgers never spared himself. His interest in the advertising profession and in all advertising subjects was unflagging. He was a member of the Aldine Association, the Quoin Club, the Representatives Club, the Sphinx Club and the Advertising Men's League of New York City, and an honorary member of numerous other clubs. No man in his profession was more generally respected.

PERIODICAL NOTES.

Human Life is now being published by Edmund F. Hackett, who has moved it from Boston to 263 Fifth Avenue, New York.

ILL-HEALTH has forced Melville E. Stone, Jr., for several years editor and publisher of the Metropolitan Magazine, to take a rest for at least a year, so he has retired from the enterprise. H. J. Whigham has succeeded in the control of the magazine.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

MILLS & BOON, the English publishers, will issue immediately "Our Lady of the Leopards," by Albert Dorington, a well-known Australian writer.

"THE LIKEABLE CHAP," a story of boy life at an American boarding school by Henry McHarg Davenport, will be published early in the fall by Sturgis & Walton.

THE best selling books in June with Baker & Taylor were in order: "The Long Roll;" "Miss Gibbie Gault;" "Molly Make-Believe;" "The Rosary;" "Queed;" "The Broad Highway;" "Keeping Up with Lizzie;" "Mary Cary;" "The Woman-Haters;" "The Tennessee Shad."

HARPER & BROTHERS announce that they are reprinting this week five of their books: "The Conspirators," a novel by Robert W. Chambers; Crabb's English Synonyms; "The Unknown," by Camille Flammarion; "The Toy Shop," by Margarita Spalding Gerry; "The Coming of Billy," by Margaret Westrup.

ONE of the first novels of the autumn season will be Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's "The Secret Garden," to be published August 25 by Stokes. This story has been running serially in The American Magazine, and has been pronounced by the editors far and away the most popular serial The American has ever run.

THE GEORGE H. DORAN COMPANY are issuing two more books from the versatile pen of Arnold Bennett. One a play, "What the Public Wants," has already met with success on the boards; the other, "Literary Taste and How to Form It," is a revision of a book issued anonymously by Mr. Bennett, but now issued with additions over his own name. The same house will issue early in September a book by Charles M. Sheldon, the author of "In His Steps."

THE old art of intimate and unhackneyed dedications to books seems to be reviving. One of the pleasant dedications of this book-season is that to "Dawn O'Hara," by Edna Ferber, which is:

TO MY DEAR MOTHER
Who Frequently Interrupts

and to

MY SISTER FANNIE
Who Says "Sh-sh-sh!" Outside My Door.

MILLIONS have read Tolstoy but comparatively few are familiar with his philosophy and religion except as they are disclosed in his fiction. Bolton Hall has prepared and B. W. Huebsch will publish shortly a volume entitled "What Tolstoy Taught." This will contain the essence of the Russian prophet's life work practically in his own words. The subjects will be classified and indexed and the book will afford a long desired opportunity to all who have been anxious to acquaint themselves with Tolstoy's teachings without reading his many volumes.

WITHIN the last few weeks D. Appleton & Company have gone to press with new editions of the following books to meet the strong current demand for them: Novels—Henry K. Webster's "The Girl in the Other Seat;" Robert W. Chambers's "Special Messenger;" David Graham Phillips's "The Husband's Story," and "The Grain of Dust;" Joseph C. Lincoln's "The Woman-Haters;" David Graham Phillips's "The Hungry Heart." Miscellaneous—William C. Edgar's "The Story of a Grain of Wheat;" Sydney J. Hickson's "The Story of Life in the Seas;" John Henry Comstock's "Insect Life;" Gertrude B. Rawlings's "The Story of Books;" Martin A. S. Hume's "The Spanish People;" Schwelger's "History of Philosophy;" Albert Bushnell Hart's "The Southern South;" George B. Grinnell's "Story of the Indian." The Appletons have also gone to press with new editions of Ralph Henry Barbour's three stories for boys: "For the Honor of the School," "The Half-Back" and "Four in Camp."

LAMENTATIONS over the present condition of the booktrade in England are not infrequent, says Henry C. Shelley in the Boston Transcript. Israel Zangwill takes a sad view of the condition of literature, and thinks it is being submerged by the mad materialism of the age. A great deal of it, he holds, is offensive in quality and still more in quantity. He is appalled at the fact that some fourteen thousand volumes were produced last year. The activities of the English lending libraries may, perhaps, serve as a warning to the booksellers here who run circulating libraries. Here and there, says Mr. Shelley, one comes upon a publisher who is also distressed at this tendency. One such, representing a house of the highest standing and most enviable traditions, bemoaned to me last week the growing impossibility of trying to appraise the public taste. He assured me that it was an unusual thing for his firm to sell five hundred copies of any book with the exception of "a trashy novel." The ever-increasing importance of the lending library is largely responsible for this situation. The reader who buys books outright is becoming more and more rare this side of the Atlantic, a fact which in itself increases the importance of the circulating library and strengthens that institution in its relation to publishers.

BUSINESS NOTES.

DENVER, COLO.—The Antlers Book Shop, formerly of New Orleans, is now located here at 1707 Tremont Street.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—The Dayton Dry Goods Co. has changed its firm name to the Dayton Company.

NEW YORK CITY.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against James L. Perkins & Co. (corporation), subscription book publishers at Nos. 11 and 13 Cliff Street, by Moses R. Ryttenberg for these creditors: Quinn & Boden Co., $1393; Van Rees Press, $3800, and Smith & Hessler Co., $1765. It was alleged that the corporation is insolvent and admitted in writing inability to pay its debts. Judge Hand appointed Charles A. Throckmorton receiver, with a bond of $12,000. He is president of the Smith & Hessler Co., and agreed to act as receiver without compensation, and a majority of creditors requested his appointment. Mr. Ryttenberg stated that the liabilities are $57,548 and assets $12,000 in stock, plates, dies, office furniture and accounts. The corporation has been trying for some time past to get an extension of time from the creditors, but was not successful. The business was started in January, 1908, and was incorporated in March, 1909, with capital stock of $25,000, but it had no capital rating in Bradstreet's. James L. Perkins was president and treasurer.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Cochrane Publishing Company has retired from business.

NORTHPORT, N. Y.—The Edward Thompson Company, law publishers, has been reorganized with W. W. McKinney as president.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—E. G. Lewis has returned to St. Louis from the Pacific Coast to fight the receivership proceedings against the Lewis enterprises in the federal courts here. The Lewis cases will come up for hearings the first part of next month. The receiverships suits have delayed indefinitely the appointment of the three trustees whom it was proposed to put in charge of the Lewis properties. The trustees were to act for the committee of ten representing the magazine publishers, who are making an effort to rehabilitate the Lewis concerns and get them on a paying basis. Eugene H. Angert, attorney for the magazine publishers, states that the recent suits had "made the men who had agreed to serve as trustees timid about taking hold." Before men of ability would consent to serve, he said, they wanted to know what attitude the court would take toward the suits, and nothing will be done in this direction until the court indicates its position. These properties include the St. Louis Star and The Woman's Magazine, including the magnificent magazine buildings at University City.

On July 12 Lewis was indicted by a special grand jury in the United States District Court on charges of fraudulent use of the mails. It is charged in the indictment that by the debenture plan Lewis endeavored to recover in exchange for long time debenture papers securities of his different companies and obligations, most of which were due at early dates, amounting to $7,160,000. The indictment, containing twelve counts, charges that Lewis sold unsecured notes on the "Woman's Magazine" building and the "Woman's National Daily" building, in University City, of which Lewis is mayor, unsecured notes of the University Heights Realty and Development Company, operated a "debenture scheme," and that he misrepresented the condition of the Lewis Publishing Company in selling stock in the concern. Mr. Lewis, when advised that an indictment had been returned against him, said it was but a continuation of the persecution of the Post Office Department from which he has suffered for several years.

BOOKS WANTED

Under this head booktrade subscribers, under their own names, are given five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertisement for books out of print in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding 100 lines a year. If over five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line. Books not out of print, repeated matter, and all advertisements from nonsubscribers cost 10 cents a line. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY, does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withdrawing their use from irresponsible advertisers, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

PAPER TESTING

WE have facilities for making chemical, microscopical and physical tests of paper promptly and at reasonable prices.

We can be of service to the purchaser by showing him whether he is getting what he has specified.

We can be of service to the manufacturer in disputes where the report of a third party is likely to be more effective.

Darkness...

breeds disease. Sunshine and air keep the germs out. Books are said to be great germ carriers. Believing in this we have taken every precaution to insure germ-free books if manufactured in our plant. Sunshine on all sides and in every corner—thorough ventilation—cleanly employees with rigorous health laws enforced—your books are thus insured against spreading disease.
